

criminal enforcement unless the witness refuses to testify after he has been ordered and directed to answer by a Member of the Committee.

4. Filing. The Committee staff shall see that the testimony is transcribed or electronically recorded. If it is transcribed, the witness shall be furnished with a copy for review. No later than five days thereafter, the witness shall return a signed copy, and the staff shall enter the changes, if any, requested by the witness in accordance with Rule V.6. If the witness fails to return a signed copy, the staff shall note on the transcript the date a copy was provided and the failure to return it. The individual administering the oath shall certify on the transcript that the witness was duly sworn in his presence, the transcriber shall certify that the transcript is a true record to the testimony, and the transcript shall then be filed with the Committee clerk. Committee staff may stipulate with the witness to changes in this procedure; deviations from the procedure which do not substantially impair the reliability of the record shall not relieve the witness from his obligation to testify truthfully.

5. Commissions. The Committee may authorize the staff, by issuance of commissions, to fill in prepared subpoenas, conduct field hearings, inspect locations, facilities, or systems of records, or otherwise act on behalf of the Committee. Commissions shall be accompanied by instructions from the Committee regulating their use.

VII. SUBCOMMITTEES

1. Establishment. The Committee will operate as a Committee of the Whole, reserving to itself the right to establish temporary subcommittees at any time by majority vote. The Chairman of the full Committee and the Ranking Minority Member shall be ex officio Members of all subcommittees.

2. Jurisdiction. Within its jurisdiction as described in the Standing Rules of the Senate, each subcommittee is authorized to conduct investigations, including use of subpoenas, depositions, and commissions.

3. Rules. A subcommittee shall be governed by the Committee rules, except that its quorum for all business shall be one-third of the subcommittee Membership, and for hearings shall be one Member.

VIII. REPORTS

Committee reports incorporating Committee findings and recommendations shall be printed only with the approval of the Committee, after an adequate period for review and comment. The printing, as Committee documents, of materials prepared by staff for informational purposes, or the printing of materials not originating with the Committee or staff, shall require prior consultation with the minority staff; these publications shall have the following language printed on the cover of the document: "Note: This document has been printed for informational purposes. It does not represent either findings or recommendations formally adopted by the Committee."

IX. AMENDMENT OF RULES

The rules of the Committee may be amended or revised at any time, provided that not less than a majority of the Committee present so determine at a Committee meeting preceded by at least 3 days notice of the amendments or revisions proposed.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

IN RECOGNITION OF SUSIE ROZETTA EADES DOUGLAS

• Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Susie Rozetta

Eades Douglas. Mrs. Douglas, 81, was a Cheyenne and Pawnee and enrolled member of the Cheyenne and Arapaho Tribes of Oklahoma. Her great-grandfather was Bull Bear, who was a Cheyenne peace chief, leader of the Dog Men Society, and the first signatory to the Medicine Lodge Creek Treaty of 1867. Her grandfather, Thunderbird—Richard Davis—and artist and writer, is credited with preserving valuable ceremonial information at a time when the Sun Dance and other Cheyenne ceremonies were outlawed.

Born in Pawnee, Oklahoma, on July 2, 1921, to Richenda Aspenall Davis Eades and Joseph Cleveland Eades, Sr., she was raised in El Reno, Oklahoma, graduated from Chillico Indian School in 1940, and earned an associate degree in business from Haskell Institute in Lawrence, KS, Class of 1943.

Homemaker and Eastern Star, she was a Quilting Society member and an active volunteer worker for the Democratic Party. As an Army wife, she traveled extensively and lived in Oahu, Hawaii, and Naples, Italy, before settling into her longtime home in San Antonio, Texas.

She passed away in San Antonio on January 21, from pneumonia and complications of diabetes and Alzheimer's disease, and was buried on January 25 at the Cheyenne Arapaho Cemetery in Concho, Oklahoma.

She is survived by her husband of nearly 59 years, Freeland Edward Douglas, Hodulgee Muscogee; their daughter Suzan Shown Harjo and son Dennis Gene Douglas; and a host of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Her daughter says Mrs. Douglas was her inspiration for work on the American Indian Religious Freedom Act and sacred lands protection and repatriation laws. •

IN MEMORY OF CHRISTOPHER JAMES CANNING

• Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Christopher J. Canning, who died June 30, 2001, at the young age of 15.

Chris was from Maroa, IL, and excelled as an athlete in sports such as football, basketball, and baseball. Chris also excelled in the martial arts, where he was a multi-state and national champion, an "AAU All American," and a member of the U.S. Elite team at the Olympic training center. Chris and his legacy as a martial artist will live on through the United States National AAU Taekwondo Chris Canning Award of Excellence, established in July 2002. This award is given to one athlete out of 14,000 at the U.S. National Championships.

Chris was also an honor student who appreciated reading, math and music. Chris enjoyed playing classical piano, and also played the drums for his school. Chris liked to read books outside of what was required for school. He liked to be challenged in many different subject areas.

Chris was drawn toward community and public service. Chris was also known to protect kids at school from the local bullies. He helped people less fortunate than himself by shoveling snow for the elderly without pay, collecting food and clothing for the homeless in Decatur on his own, and helping to deliver meals on wheels for those confined to home. He would always find ways to help others, and to find homes for abandoned animals through working at his grandparents' animal shelter. Looking to the future, he aspired to be in our Nation's Special Forces or to serve in the FBI.

I also want to give special recognition to Chris's family who are still mourning his tragic loss. His father and mother, Art and Melissa Canning, his brother and sister, Robert and Elizabeth, and finally his grandparents Marla and Joe Powers.

In short, Christopher J. Canning was a caring young man, a good citizen, an asset in his academic environment, and a nationally acclaimed athlete. Tragically, Chris's life was cut short.

The memory of Chris Canning lives on, and today I pay tribute to a young man who had so much promise as an athlete, student, martial artist, community servant, and son. His example will always be an inspiration to those who follow in his footsteps. •

HONORING PATRICK GROSS

• Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the career of Patrick Gross, a dedicated public servant and an outstanding former member of my staff. He will be ending his career as the community development program director for USDA rural development in South Dakota. As USDA's rural development community development program director, Pat has been a model for other dedicated and talented South Dakotans to emulate and an invaluable asset to everyone who had the honor of working with him.

As an original member of my staff, during my first term in the House of Representatives, Pat played an essential role in the development and creation of my congressional offices in South Dakota. As my first State director, Pat laid the groundwork for future members of my State staff to follow. A leader in State economic and rural development, both constituents and staff members often turned to Pat for his leadership and wealth of knowledge.

An avid outdoorsman and advocate for rural development, Pat was well prepared for a position as my State economic development director. Pat's work on natural resource initiatives, land management concerns, and economic development projects, benefited countless South Dakotans. I could not have asked for a more reliable and dedicated individuals to head the direction of my State offices.

As community development program director, Pat oversaw special initiatives including the Oglala Sioux Tribe
